Southeast Telephone Company

TYPE OF PROJECT:

Office Facility

The Southeast Telephone Building is a 14,000 square foot office facility that houses the headquarters for the Southeast Telephone Company. The building's primary use is day to day business, but with its open floor plan design, the building has the flexibility to meet the changing demands of a modern work place.

The building is also designed with expansion in mind; in case of business demand, the building's size can be increased as needed.
